

Laura and Barry McAlister are a husband-and-wife team whose career journey spans 30+ years in corporate leadership, healthcare, law, education, video production and performance. They founded Fun2GrowOn to promote a servant leadership mindset that creates collaboration and high-performance teams. They add value to personal and professional lives through interactive coaching, training, and mentoring activities empowering them to Laugh, Learn and Grow.

Laura McAlister is a Leadership Development Consultant and Clarity Coach offering workshops and coaching sessions that empower individuals to uncover their unique strengths, achieve a state of flow, and unlock their full potential. Her goal is to assist business professionals in leading fulfilling and purposeful lives. She holds 25+ years expertise in healthcare, legal and insurance with emphasis in project management, leadership development, coaching and mentoring, corporate training, and strategic planning. She has proven success in leading strong project teams that achieve consistent results through outstanding communication and interpersonal competencies. Laura has a reputation for forming productive business relationships at all levels using excellent facilitation skills to motivate high-performance teams and strengthen stakeholder associations. Laura is acknowledged as the go-to person for creative planning, developing empowered leaders, and accelerating issue resolution at all levels.

Barry McAlister is a genuine Renaissance Man! At Fun2GrowOn, his primary role involves infusing humor and improvisational training into workshops and presentations. He honed his skills at the renowned The Second City in Chicago, mastering comedy writing and improv. Barry has graced the stage numerous times and has extensive experience in improv-based training. Barry is also an award-winning film and video director/producer/writer. He uses humor and story to create content that helps bring about positive change. Barry is also an award-winning film and video director/producer/writer. He uses humor and story to create content that helps bring about positive change. We won't even go into his work with puppets, magic, or travel photography/videography. There's just not enough room...